Private Attorney General Act (“PAGA”)

(Against Defendant SP Only)

84. SP admits the allegations in Paragraph 84.

85. SP lacks sufficient information or knowledge to admit or deny the allegations in Paragraph 85, and therefore denies such allegations.

86. SP lacks sufficient information or knowledge to admit or deny the allegations in Paragraph 86, and therefore denies such allegations.

87. SP denies any and all allegations not expressly admitted herein.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

1. Jacobs' Complaint, in whole or part, fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

2. Defendants affirmatively allege that Jacobs' claims are barred by accord and satisfaction.

3. Defendants affirmatively allege that Jacobs' claims are barred by failure of consideration.

4. Defendants affirmatively allege that Jacobs' claims are barred by the general release Jacobs agreed to when he executed Amendment No. 1 to his Employment Agreement.

5. Defendants affirmatively allege that Jacobs' claims relating to the alleged 15% equity in SP are barred by the statute of frauds, including Cal. Civil Code § 1624.

6. Defendants affirmatively allege that there was no meeting of the minds on any alleged promise to provide 15% equity in SP.

7. Defendants affirmatively allege that the alleged promise to provide 15% equity in SP was impossible to provide because SP has an operating agreement that specifically governs the different classes of equity and the steps necessary in order to provide equity to a particular individual.

8. Defendants affirmatively allege that Jacobs should be equitably estopped from claiming that he was promised to be provided with 15% equity in SP. Jacobs affirmatively requested that he be paid with money instead of receiving equity in the Company.

9. Defendants affirmatively allege that SP's decision to end its working relationship with Jacobs was based on legitimate, non-discriminatory reasons. On April 16, 2019, SP terminated its current agreement with Jacobs because Jacobs was not performing – despite receiving over

1 $300,000, he had not delivered any customers. Then, after offering Jacobs the opportunity to
 2 continue his relationship with SP as an Authorized Development Partner, SP believes that Jacobs
 3 contacted an SP client and tried to solicit the client to give its business to a different company and
 4 disparaged SP at the same time (this was also not the first time that Jacobs had intentionally
 5 disparaged and harmed SP). Upon learning that information, SP withdrew the Authorized
 6 Development Partner Agreement.

7       10. Jacobs engaged in conduct disloyal to SP and in contravention to promises that
 8 Jacobs made to SP under the Confidentiality Agreement and the Independent Contractor
 9 Agreement.

10       11. Defendants interacted in good faith and reasonably at all times with Jacobs,
 11 including when it paid Jacobs the final amount Jacobs claimed was due under the Independent
 12 Contractor Agreement.

13       12. SP believed in good faith that Jacobs was correctly classified as an independent 14 contractor.

15       13. Jacobs is not entitled to recovery of punitive damages because all relevant actions
 16 taken by Defendants were in good faith and without malice or reckless indifference or disregard for 17 any right of Jacobs.

18       14. Jacobs' claim for quantum meruit fails in whole or in part because his compensation
 19 of $300,000 was established by an actual agreement between the parties.

20       15. Defendants have paid for all expenses submitted by Jacobs to SP for payment.

21       16. Jacobs failed to follow SP's process for seeking pre-approval of expenses and then 22 submitting documentation of expenses incurred.

23       17. To the extent Jacobs has suffered any damages as a result of any action by 24 Defendants (which liability is expressly denied), Jacobs had failed to mitigate any or all of his 25 alleged damages. Furthermore, to the extent Jacobs has received (or with reasonable diligence 26 could have received) income from other sources for the period of time he alleges a loss of income, 27 such amount should be offset against, and should reduce, any alleged damages Jacobs seeks to 28 obtain from Defendants.

1       18.     Jacobs' claims are barred, in whole or in part, by the applicable statute of limitations.

2       WHEREFORE, Defendants request

3       A.     That Jacobs take nothing by reason of the Complaint, and that Defendants be 4 dismissed hence;

5       B.     To the extent to which law, equity, or contract allows, for reasonable attorneys' fees;

6       C.     For costs of suit incurred herein; and

7       D.     For such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

COUNTERCLAIM

9       1.     Counterclaimant Sustainability Partners, LLC ("SP") is a Delaware corporation with 10 its principal place of business in Tempe, Arizona.

11      2.     Counterdefendant Jay Jacobs ("Jacobs") is a resident of California.

12      3.     This Court can exercise jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1337(a) over SP's
13 compulsory counterclaim as it arises out of the same transaction or occurrence that is the subject
14 matter of the opposing party's claim.

15      4.     Moreover, the damages asserted in SP's counterclaim exceed the $75,000 amount-
16 in-controversy requirement for this Court to exercise subject-matter jurisdiction.

Factual Allegations

18      5.     Sometime in August 2016, Jacobs and SP executed At-Will Employment,
19 Confidential Information, and Invention Assignment Agreement (the "Confidentiality
20 Agreement").

21      6.     The Confidentiality Agreement required Jacobs to hold "in the strictest confidence"
22 and "take all reasonable precautions to prevent any unauthorized use or disclosure" of any 23 Company Confidential Information, defined as information that SP "has or will develop, acquire,
24 create, compile, discover or own, that has value in or to the Company's business which is not
25 generally known and which the Company wishes to maintain as confidential." Confidentiality
26 Agreement § 2.B.

27      7.     The Confidentiality Agreement required Jacobs to hold "in the strictest confidence"
28 and "take all reasonable precautions to prevent any unauthorized use or disclosure" of any

1 Company Confidential Information during and after his employment with SP. In fact, the 2 Agreement stated that Jacobs “underst[ood] that [his] obligations under Section 2.B [of the 3 Confidentiality Agreement] shall continue after termination of [his] employment.” Confidentiality
 4 Agreement § 2.B.

5       8. Upon information and belief, Jacobs used SP confidential information to create his 6 own business to compete with SP.

7       9. The Confidentiality Agreement further required Jacobs to “immediately deliver to 8 the Company, and will not keep in my possession, recreate, or deliver to anyone else, any and all
 9 Company property, including, but not limited to, Company Confidential Information, Associated 10 Third Party Confidential Information, all Company equipment including all Company Electronic 11 Media Equipment, all tangible embodiments of the Inventions, all electronically stored information
 12 and passwords to access such property, Company credit cards, records, data, notes, notebooks,
 13 reports, files, proposals, lists, correspondence, specifications, drawings, blueprints, sketches,
 14 materials, photographs, charts, any other documents and property, and reproductions of any of the 15 foregoing items, including, without limitation, those records maintained pursuant to Section 3.D”
 16 “upon separation from employment with [SP] or upon the Company’s request at any other time.”
 17 Confidentiality Agreement § 5.B.

18       10. The Confidentiality Agreement further required Jacobs to “make a prompt and 19 reasonable search” for Company Confidential Information on his personal Electronic Media
 20 Equipment or personal Electronic Media Systems to locate any Company Confidential Information
 21 on them. If Jacobs discovered Company Confidential Information on his personal Electronic Media
 22 Equipment or personal Electronic Media Systems, he is required to notify SP of that fact, provide 23 SP with a computer-useable copy of all such Company information from his equipment and 24 systems, and cooperate reasonably with SP to verify that the necessary copying is completed 25 (including, upon request providing a sworn declaration confirming the return of property and 26 deletion of information). Confidentiality Agreement § 5.D.

27       11. Under the Confidentiality Agreement, Jacobs agreed that he had “no expectation of 28 privacy as to any personal Electronic Media Equipment or personal Electronic Media Systems that

1 [he] had used for [SP's] purposes." To that end, Jacobs agreed that SP "in its sole discretion, may
 2 have access to such personal Electronic Media Equipment or personal Electronic Media Systems
 3 to retrieve, destroy, or ensure the permanent deletion of Company information from such equipment
 4 or systems." Confidentiality Agreement § 5.E.

5       12. Jacobs agreed to an "audit to confirm [his] compliance" with Section 5 of the 6 Confidentiality Agreement (addressing the return of SP's materials from his work and personal
 7 equipment) and agreed to "certify in writing" that he had complied with the requirements of Section
 8 5. Confidentiality Agreement § 5.E; see also id. § 12.

9       13. Despite numerous efforts, Jacobs refused to provide his computer for inspection and 10 to allow SP to search and remove SP files. To this day, Jacobs has SP's confidential and proprietary 11 information on his computer.

12       14. The Confidentiality Agreement required that Jacobs not make any negative
 13 comments or otherwise disparage SP. Confidentiality Agreement § 9. This obligation, like all of 14 the other rights and obligations in the Confidentiality Agreement, survived Jacobs' employment
 15 with SP. Confidentiality Agreement § 15.H.

16       15. SP had been engaging a potential investor to invest $5 million in capital into SP.
 17 Just before the potential investor was expected to provide such capital, Jacobs emailed the potential
 18 investor and made disparaging statements about SP's business model. Following Jacobs'
 19 disparaging conduct, the potential investor decided not to invest in SP.

20       16. Also, on or about April 18, 2019, Jacobs contacted a current SP customer. SP had 21 been working on trying to close on approximately $20 million worth of projects with this customer
 22 over the next two years. Jacobs disparaged SP in communications with this current customer and 23 told the current customer that there was an alternative company that would be better for this 24 customer.

25       17. The following day on April 19, 2019, SP's Chief Administrative Officer and General
 26 Counsel, Adam Cain, wrote a Cease and Desist Letter to Jacobs requiring that he "cease all further 27 actions that directly or indirectly harm SP."

28       18. On or about July 4, 2017, Jacobs and SP entered into an Independent Contractor

1 Agreement. Jacobs and SP were acting pursuant to the Independent Contractor Agreement through
2 April 16, 2019.

3        19. The Independent Contractor Agreement provided that Jacobs was not to use or 4 disclose SP's confidential information for purposes other than to benefit SP, that Jacobs was to 5 return all confidential information at the end of his relationship with SP, and that he was not to 6 misappropriate SP's unique service model.

7        20. Despite SP's requests for Jacobs to return SP's confidential information, Jacobs has 8 not taken these steps. On information and belief, Jacobs has created a business based on the same
9 unique service model as SP.

10        21. The Independent Contractor Agreement also required that Jacobs “not start [his]
11 own business, or encourage, collaborate or cooperate with others to start a business that may 12 reasonably be expected to compete with SP” while he worked as an independent contractor.
13 Independent Contract Agreement, Exhibit D; see also Independent Contractor Agreement § 12(d)
14 (incorporating exhibits to Independent Contractor Agreement as part of the contractual obligations).

15        22. Jacobs breached those obligations by encouraging a potential investor to explore
16 investing in other companies that compete with SP.

17        23. Further, based on information and belief, while he was an independent contractor
18 with SP, Jacobs was actively pursuing his own company to directly compete with SP.

COUNT ONE

Breach of Contract (Confidentiality Agreement)

21        24. SP incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all paragraphs above as 22 though fully set forth herein.

23        25. The Confidentiality Agreement between SP and Jacobs is enforceable and supported 24 by consideration.

25        26.     SP performed all conditions, covenants, and promises required of it to be performed
26 in accordance with the terms of the Confidentiality Agreement.

27        27. Jacobs breached the Confidentiality Agreement by, among other things, doing the 28 following:

- 1 a. utilizing SP's confidential information to create his own competing business;
- 2 b. failing to return all of SP's Electronic Media Equipment and Electronic
- 3 Media Systems as well as failing to permit SP to audit Jacobs' personal
- 4 Electronic Media Equipment and personal Electronic Media Systems; and
- 5 c. disparaging SP to SP's current and future clients.

6 28. As a direct and proximate cause of Jacobs' breaches, SP has been damaged in an
7 amount over $75,000 to be proven at trial.

8 COUNT TWO

9 Breach of Contract (Independent Contractor Agreement)

10 29. SP incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all paragraphs above as 11 though fully set forth herein.

12 30. The Independent Contractor Agreement between SP and Jacobs is enforceable and 13 supported by consideration. The Independent Contractor Agreement is governed by Arizona law
14 and includes a choice of law provision selecting Arizona law.

15 31. Jacobs breached the Independent Contractor Agreement by doing, among other 16 things, the following:

- 17 a. Not returning SP's confidential and proprietary information following the 18 end of his relationship with SP.
- 19 b. Upon information and belief, using SP's confidential and/or proprietary 20 information to create a competing company.
- 21 c. Upon information and belief, using SP's confidential and/or proprietary 22 information to the detriment of SP.
- 23 d. Disparaging SP to SP's current and future clients.

24 32. As a direct and proximate cause of Jacobs' breaches, SP has been damaged in an
25 amount over $75,000 to be proven at trial.

26 WHEREFORE, SP prays for:

27 A. Judgment against Jacobs for direct and consequential damages arising from Jacobs'
28 breaches of the Confidentiality Agreement, to be proven at trial;

1           B.     Pre- and post-judgment interest on all damages awarded;
2           C.     To the extent to which law, equity, or contract allows, for reasonable attorneys' fees;
3           D.     For costs of suit incurred herein; and
4           E.     For such other and further relief, including equitable relief, as the Court may deem 5 just and proper.
